

Polar Fun Day

Explorers who had travelled to many places of the world, but in particular the Arctic, came into school for a Polar Fun Day. Children got opportunities to question the explorers! They were particularly interested about the explorers visit to the North Pole where Santa Claus lives! Children got to take part in a variety of activities, they really enjoyed being able to dress up in a variety of warm Arctic clothes, even though they were a bit big! They learnt why the Arctic Explorers needed such warm clothing, and talked about when they needed to wear warm clothing themselves. They also did some creative writing, and drew and made a list of all the items they would take to the Arctic with them. Many of the children wanted to be explorers after this day!
