

Sharing Christmas presents

When we came back after Christmas, Fox class and Hawks class joined together and children could bring in something that they had received for Christmas. The child stood in the middle of the circle and talked about their gift! Others asked questions about it, and the child would show everyone in the room. It was a great experience as the children were very interested in the other children's experiences of Christmas, and were very excited to see what others had received!

